

Panavid now offers its clients use of Zaxcom Wireless

Panavid now offers its clients use of Zaxcom Wireless. The TRX900 series from Zaxcom incorporates an IFB receiver into the body of a wireless transmitter, and it is combined in a smaller package than a traditional transmitter. The built in IFB receiver, remote RF control of the body-pack, encryption security and internal recording with time code make these wireless microphones invaluable for professional audio use in PA, TV, and movie production. According to Walter Loehr, Panavid's President, "The Zaxcom wireless TRX900 system, with its multiple features, adds another option that Panavid can offer its clients, especially for those high level meetings where extra security is needed."
